Location

l'Escala - A Charming Fishing Village on the Costa Brava
The picturesque fishing village of l'Escala is located on the southern shore of the Gulf of Rosas, about 40 km from Girona and around 120 km from Barcelona. The region impresses with its enchanting landscape, characterized by pine-covered hills, idyllic and secluded coves, and long, inviting beaches.

In l'Escala, you will find three beautiful sandy beaches: the charming beach in the Bay of Montgo, the lively town beach of Riells, and the extensive sandy beach stretching several kilometers from l'Escala to Sant Pere Pescador. These beaches are particularly family-friendly and offer ideal conditions for a relaxing day by the sea with children.

In addition to the picturesque old town, l'Escala also features a modern center (Riells) with a shopping street along the seafront promenade. Here, you will find numerous daily necessities such as bakeries, butcher shops, and pharmacies, all offering a wide range of products.

This wind, which occurs at irregular intervals, ensures a bright blue sky and is a true paradise for surfers. Cultural enthusiasts will appreciate the nearby Greek-Roman ruins of Empúries, located about 2 km away. The excavations, which began around 1900 and are still ongoing, provide fascinating insights into the ancient history of the region. A visit to the museum completes the cultural experience. To the south of the village, you will find Cala Montgo and the impressive Montgo Mountain. From here, you can enjoy a fantastic panoramic view over the Bay of Rosas and up to the nearby Pyrenees. l'Escala wonderfully combines natural beauty, cultural treasures, and a pleasant climate - the perfect place for an unforgettable stay on the Costa Brava..
